Our Wind-Driven Eagle Eye units now boast a double bearing system with a reinforced housing to ensure optimal sensitivity and strength. These units are designed to be powered by the wind. No electricity needed.

This product should not be used in areas that are renowned for high winds, as well as areas with no wind at all. The units should be cleaned at least every 6 months with Eagle Eye Surface Cleaner only.

The wind-driven Eagle Eye should be used in conjunction with motorized units for best results.

These units are shipped with either a flat or a 90 Degree angled mounting bracket for installations on flat surfaces or roof peaks. Please let us know when placing your order if you would prefer the angled or flat mounting bracket.
